

Prospects Revived For Agricultural Fair Here in the Fall

Executive Committee of Agricultural Society Discusses Preliminary Plans With Chamber of Commerce

JOINT MEETING TO BE HELD JANUARY 14

Prospects for an Agricultural fair in Clearfield next fall were revived today when the executive committee of the Clearfield County agricultural society met with the board of governors of the chamber of commerce in the arbitration room of the court house for a preliminary discussion of the plan.

Although no definite result can be announced following this meeting, the two bodies arrived at a basis for discussion, and both seem anxious to see the fair held. Committees were appointed by the society and the chamber of commerce to go into details, and to report at a joint meeting which is to be held on Friday, January 14.

Pomona Grange is interested in the proposed fair, and Master S. C. Reed has also appointed a committee which will take up the question and meet with the other two committees on the date named. The Grange will make the fair discussion a part of the program for a meeting to be held January 13.

The fair question has been discussed informally here for several months, the general sentiment being favorable to it being held in Clearfield either in September or October of this year. The last fair was held here several years ago and proved unsuccessful financially. This developed sufficient opposition locally to prevent its continuance as a regular attraction, and the farmers have been going to DuBois since that time.

Many business men express a desire to see the fair returned to Clearfield, and express themselves as willing to back the venture. They believe that conditions have so changed since the last fair that fear of financial failure should not be entertained. Certainly, they state, conditions were never before so favorable locally.

The members of the Agricultural society who met today with the board of governors of the chamber of commerce were: Curtis Reed, president, and chairman ex-officio of the executive committee, T. L. Wall, R. S. Lewin, T. L. Way, and W. P. Wingert, members, and W. E. Davis secretary, and James A. McPherson, treasurer, ex-officio members of the committee. F. B. Lee, vice-president of the society, was also present.

CERVANTES' TER-CENTENNIAL

Madrid, Jan. 6.—Literary Spain is preparing for an appropriate observance in April of the 300th anniversary of the death of Cervantes, author of the world's greatest romance, "Don Quixote." Cervantes was born in Old Castile in 1547 and died in Madrid, April 23, 1616. By a peculiar coincidence his death occurred on the same day that Shakespeare, the world-famous English poet and dramatist, passed away at Stratford-on-Avon.

EIGHT DROWN WHEN BOAT STRIKES PIER AND SINKS

Howling Rain Storm Puts out Signals And Prevents Cries Being Heard

Parkersburg, W. V., Jan. 6. (By United Press)—Eight persons are believed to have been drowned when the Ohio river steamboat Kanawha was blown against a pier eight miles south of here last night and sank in 32 feet of water. The accident occurred during a howling rain storm which had put out the signal and prevented cries of those on board from reaching shore.

Among the missing are Mrs. Rebecca Deagle, her daughter, Mrs. Mamie Simpson and Mrs. Simpson's infant child. Herbert Wolf, purser of the boat is thought to have been drowned in an effort to save another. Captain Berry floated down stream with the Kanawha and was rescued at midnight. He believes all the passengers were saved. The Kanawha carries when she left here before the disaster. The boat's register was lost and there is no means of checking up survivors and missing.

SOUTHERN STATES PLANNING DRASTIC PROHIBITION BILL

All "Dry" States to Follow Lead of Alabama in Law Prohibiting Advertising

Newspapers and Periodicals Containing Beer or Whiskey Ads Will Not Be Allowed in States.

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 6. — The prohibitionists of the south are planning not only for a "dry" south program which shall include the entire section east of Mississippi, but also laws in each of the southern states which shall make it impossible for any newspaper or other publication to print liquor or beer advertisements or for any publication outside these states to be sold there if they contain liquor advertisements. Alabama has had such a law for a year or more. Georgia has a similar law which will come into effect next May, and South Carolina will be next in order.

While the forces behind this movement do not represent any particular organization, there is nevertheless a well defined set of individuals behind the bills in southern states. This is indicated by the fact that both the Alabama and the Georgia laws were drawn by same jurist, former Justice Samuel D. Weekly, of this state, and that the South Carolina bill will be drawn by the same author.

The two laws already enacted are as drastic as they can be made without presuming to interfere with the United States mails, and the South Carolina law will be much the same as the Alabama and Georgia laws.

In order to be added on the streets or at newsstands it is necessary for all publications advertising liquor to publish special Georgia or Alabama editions containing no advertisements or intoxicants, or cut out or paste over such advertisements. Almost invariably, except with newspapers in neighboring states which get out special editions to meet these conditions, the most practical way has been to paste blanks over liquor advertisements, and in Alabama, where the law has been for some time effective, newsdealers have had to employ special staffs to cover the liquor advertisements in all their publications before they could offer them for sale.

TO REPLACE GERMANS

New York, Jan. 6.—Four fathers of the Society of Jesus will leave this city tomorrow for India to take the pastorate of German members of the order who have been expelled from their missions near Bombay by the British government.

With information that 130 German priests had been interned, the American branch of the order called for volunteers to take the vacant pastorates. Those chosen to go were the Rev. Denis Lynch of this city, the Rev. Thomas Barrett and the Rev. Edward Farrell of St. Peter's college, Jersey City and Rev. Herbert Parker of Holy Cross college, Worcester.

Sixteen American fathers were to have chosen in response to the call sent by Archbishop Jurgens of Bombay, but many of the vacant places were soon filled by refugee Belgian priests and more than four Americans were not needed.

CENTRE CO. JAIL FOUND EMPTY

When George H. Yarnell as sheriff of Centre county went to the county jail to take possession, he was greatly surprised to find all the cell doors standing wide open. The last prisoner had been released from the jail the morning that the new sheriff came into his office. This is the first time in the history of Centre county that the jail has been without prisoners.

WRECKERS ARE AT WORK ON PANAMA-PACIFIC WONDERS

Ruthless Hands of Junk Dealers May Waste Millions of Dollars of Property

Exhibits Being Removed Before the Ficks and Crowbars Bring Ceilings Down Upon Them.

San Francisco, Jan. 6.—(By United Press).—The wreckers' ruthless hands are upon the exposition. Soon its beauties will be a heap of plaster, timbers—and memories.

Today a grunting engine wheezed its way through the grounds where once joyful throngs congregated. It backed its string of freight cars into palaces and dragged out the last of the exhibits and furnishings. It poured its smoke over the Tower of Jewels and upon beautiful, snowy statues. Throughout the ground the deafening sound of hammers and picks, of ripping lumber and rattling plaster were heard. Sharp bargainers directed the destruction of their prizes, the state buildings and other edifices, costing thousands to build, but sold for a trifle.

A lone harker tried to sell post-exposition visitors souvenir coins. A wheel chair bearing a couple of old ladies creaked through what is left of the once gay city.

High over the wondrously beautiful Court of the Universe and Court of Abundance, circled lazy sea gulls from off the bay. Around the buildings a flock of frightened doves rose as now and then the tread of a visitor startled their calm. Empty fountains rusted. The places some of them, still stood. But they showed signs of decrepitude; the plaster walls were chipped; the brilliant banners drooped and faded in the winter rains.

Shadows were littered with rubbish. Amid the ruins in the gardens blossomed a few geraniums. The other flowers were dead. All about was an air of desolation. A few grimy workmen replaced the thousands of sightseers who for months filled the grounds.

The romance of moonlight nights along the bay, fragrant with soft breezes, touched with orange blossoms, was replaced by the grim reality of decay, ruin, loneliness. A chill wind blew from the hills; clouds filled the sky with gloom.

On the Joy Zone—that noisy, rollicking Zone—desolation lay deep. Stella—wondrously beautiful Stella—was gone. Just a ragged sign marked her erstwhile abiding place. The giant dummy figures outside of Toyland, reared their heads like lonesome monsters wondering where their crowds had vanished to. The house of the Girl in Blue was heaved up. The Pool of the Diving Girls is in ruins. Strange silence rests upon the once clattering coasters. It is indeed a forsaken city.

JERSEY POLITICS CAUSING TROUBLE IN BOTH PARTIES

Republican Legislature, Democratic Governor and State Officials Expected Deadlock

Presidential Election Year in President's Home State Finds Conditions Against His Party

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 6.—(By United Press).—The 140th legislature of New Jersey will convene January 11 for a session which promises to be fraught with bitter party and factional strife. The reason for this forecast is that New Jersey, with its Republican legislature, Democratic governor and Democratic other state officials, next fall will vote for president, U. S. senator and governor. And this is Wilson's home state. It may develop into the biggest fight in the history of this compact little commonwealth. The Democrats in the state senate and house of assembly will strive to enhance the fortunes of their party to the end that President Wilson may roll up a big majority in his home state; while the G. O. P. representatives will maneuver to have the advantage in the coming contest before the people. In the state senate the Republican majority will be five, there being thirteen of them to eight Democrats. The house will have forty Republicans to twenty Democrats and the majority on joint ballot will be twenty-five, thus insuring the election of a Republican state treasurer to succeed the Democratic incumbent, State Chairman Grosscup.

RESIDENTS FLEE WHEN FIRE STARTS NEAR OIL TANKS

Valiant Work by Firemen Prevents Spreading of Flames to Tanks

Pittsburg, Jan. 6 (By United Press).—Residents of Carnegie, a suburb, fled in terror today when a fire broke out in the two story Moose temple within a few feet of the two huge oil tanks of the Atlantic Refining company. The tanks contained great quantities of oil and would have wrecked the neighborhood had the flames reached them. Firemen worked valiantly to confine the blaze to the Moose hall and succeeded despite the freezing temperature. The loss was estimated at $31,000.

OLD MAN "DOPE" A BAD GUESSER GETS SCRAMBLED IN '15

The Sheet Looks Like a Large Feather Pillow With Big Holes Everywhere

Baseball, Football, Ring, Tennis, All Spill the Beans for the Gentlemen who "Figure Things Out."

(By U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
New York, Jan. 6.—Old Man Time today turned down the most scrambled sport page in many a year. Collocations of The Dope with cold, hard facts left the unartistic sheet in crazy disorder. It was a record of the dethronement of champions whose sway had seemed almost unchallenged.

Beginning the 1916 ledger, the bearded old guy with the primitive harvester and egg-beating meter faced the prospect of another cataclysmic cycle. More champions were on the threshold of the Little Green Door.

Jess Willard's dethronement of Jack Johnson loomed in largest type on the record for 1915. The Galveston roustabout flopped in as rounds, a beaten, helpless black man, defeated by wine, women and Willard. Willard, an unpopular champion, has yet to defend his title, but his supremacy is not regarded as greatly threatened; more because the heavyweight crop lacks quality than because he possesses merit.

Next on the page was the football record, a chronicle of upsets. Yale for the first time in years failed to make a single position on Walter Camp's all American team and that fact itself was an indication of the Blue's collapse. Little colleges, on the other hand, made fame and capital for themselves by trouncing the big boys. Harvard was saved by defeating Yale, but the accomplishment was not one to boast of. Colgate beat the army and Virginia defeated Washington and Jefferson defeated Yale. Harvard bowed to Cornell 10 to 0 and the Ithacans finished the season undefeated and clamoring for recognition of champions.

Just to add another kink to the situation, Yale knotted the Princeton kitty's tail. The Army and Navy developed a habit early in the season of bowing to their minor opponents and the main interest in their annual classic attached not so much to any championship flavor as to the ancient enmity between the two service branches. The Army and Oliphant, former Purdue star, won 14 to 0. Pittsburg, undefeated for the season, entered a counter claim against Cornell's and there was little to choose.

The conference satiation was as just as hard to dope on paper as the East's egg riot but not so erratic. Illinois sagged badly in the early season and was tied by Ohio state, always regarded as a rather passive opponent for the best conference class. At the finish a toss up existed between Minnesota and Illinois, with Chicago third. Wisconsin, Purdue, Iowa, Indiana and Northwestern didn't have much chance at any time although the Badgers hate to admit that Chicago ever had anything on them.

Baseball stepped in for a share of attention of the strength of some volume stuff in the majors. The little fellows attracted attention only by going to the wall under stress of the baseball war. But Connie Mack's athletics were a hopeless wreck and the Giants of John McGraw flopped about in the rock with never a chance to hear the coveted embroidery flapping in the breeze of Coogan's acceptance. Pat Moran saved a Stalling's place, goading his Phil to victory by going to the wall under stress of the American league race and trouncing advanced prices are charged. For these features admission is now 15c for adults and 5c for children. Every effort is being made to secure a reduction in rental on these features which will permit of their being shown at the regular 10c and 5c prices.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Copenhagen, Jan. 6. (By United Press).—Sweden does not intend to allow Germany to lose the European war. Even if she is forced to make war herself as Germany's ally Sweden will not insist upon an out and out German victory but she feels she cannot for her own safety allow the Russians to beat Germany. She is not particularly pro-German or pro-ally but she is anti-Russian, with all her soul. She will fight with Germany before she will see Russia win.

As far back as any Swede can remember all Swedes have been in favor of a Russian attempt to secure for the Czar a long coveted warm water port on the west coast of the Scandinavian peninsula. This aim only be at Norway's expense and Norway can only be reached through Sweden. The Swedes claim they can put 1,000,000 troops into the field.

London, Jan. 6. (By United Press).—Labor leaders struck a heavy blow against conscription today. A resolution protesting "in the name of three million trade unionists" against compulsory enlistment was introduced by the committee when the national labor congress met in Central hall, Westminster. The resolution was greeted with cries of approval from all parts of the hall. It contained expression of regret that "the solidity of the nation has been gravely imperilled and industrial and other interests menaced by the attitude of the conscriptionists."

London, Jan. 6. (By United Press).—Invasion of Greece by armed central empires is about to be according to dispatches from widely scattered sources to United Press dispatch from Salonika reported that the Bulgarians had resumed their concentration along the Greek border in the last 48 hours and it is believed the campaign to drive the allies from Greece will open within a few days.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Legislation of congress to prohibit American traveling on any belligerent vessel threatened to be one of the first results of the British liner Persia lost. Widespread growth of a congressional sentiment for a munitions embargo was another development.

Administration leaders admitted the senate's adoption of open and frank discussion in the Persia incident is causing uneasiness but that it served a purpose however in indicating the American feeling on submarine slaughter was cited as a helpful feature.

Both senate and home foreign relations committee will meet tomorrow for consideration of the submarine and other issues.

Authorities pretty generally agree that the Nationals, not the Americans or Poles, were licked. Signs however, point to some sort of an agreement next year to restore peace to the game. Magnates at the Waldorf meeting weren't sure the public would stand for another season of courtroom baseball.

Tennis and golf brought forth their sensations too; and Howard Drew, the negro sprinter, left his Pullman car job in San Fran long enough to lose his title in the meet at the exposition.

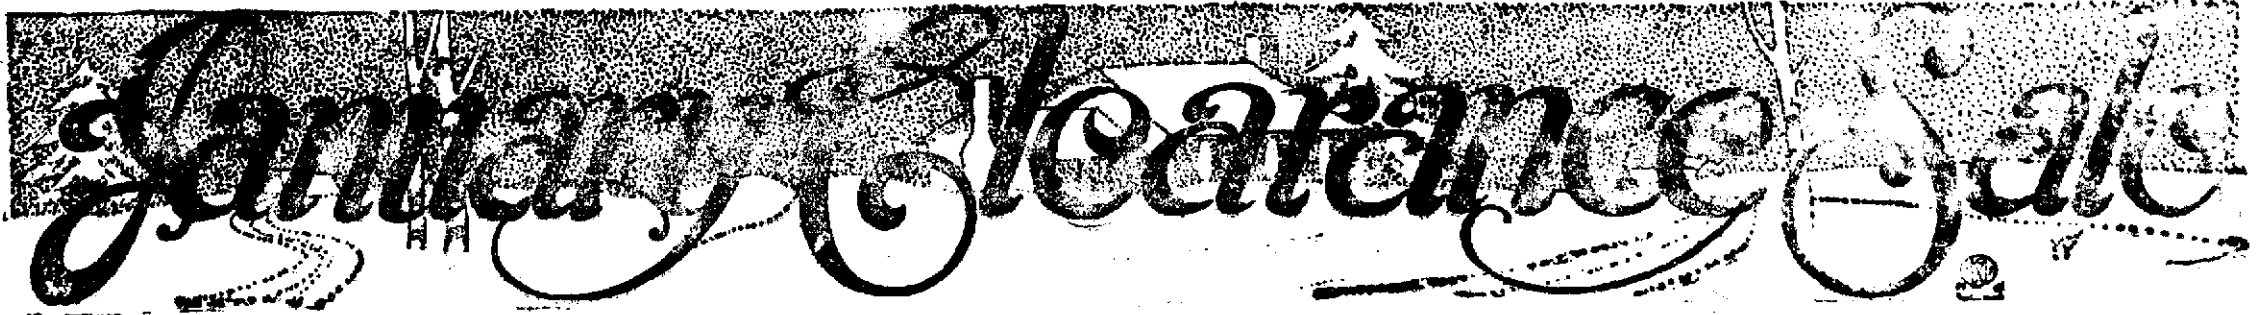

Further Time will have to go on in 1916 to readjust matters athletically.

Prospects Revived For Agricultural Fair Here in the Fall

JOINT MEETING TO BE HELD JANUARY 14

Prospects for an Agricultural fair in Clearfield next fall were revived today when the executive committee of the Clearfield County agricultural society met with the board of governors of the chamber of commerce in the arbitration room of the court house for a preliminary discussion of the plan.

Although no definite result can be announced following this meeting, the two bodies arrived at a basis for discussion, and both seem anxious to see the fair held. Committees were appointed by the society and the chamber of commerce to go into details, and to report at a joint meeting which is to be held on Friday, January 14.

Pomona Grange is interested in the proposed fair, and Master S. C. Reed has also appointed a committee which will take up the question and meet with the other two committees on the date named. The Grange will make the fair discussion a part of the program for a meeting to be held January 13.

The fair question has been discussed informally here for several months, the general sentiment being favorable to it being held in Clearfield either in September or October of this year. The last fair was held here several years ago and proved unsuccessful financially. This developed sufficient opposition locally to prevent its continuance as a regular attraction, and the farmers have been going to DuBois since that time.

Many business men express a desire to see the fair returned to Clearfield, and express themselves as willing to back the venture. They believe that conditions have so changed since the last fair that fear of financial failure should not be entertained. Certainly, they state, conditions were never before so favorable locally.

The members of the Agricultural society who met today with the board of governors of the chamber of commerce were: Curtis Reed, president, and chairman ex-officio of the executive committee, T. L. Wall, R. S. Truitt, T. L. Way, and W. P. Wingert, members, and W. E. Davis secretary, and James A. McPherson, treasurer, ex-officio members of the committee. F. B. Lee, vice-president of the society, was also present.

CERVANTES' TER-CENTENNIAL

Madrid, Jan. 6.—Literary Spain is preparing for an appropriate observance in April of the 300th anniversary of the death of Cervantes, author of the world's greatest romance, "Don Quixote." Cervantes was born in Old Castile in 1547 and died in Madrid, April 23, 1616. By a peculiar coincidence his death occurred on the same day that Shakespeare, the world-famous English poet and dramatist, passed away at Stratford-on-Avon.

EIGHT DROWN WHEN BOAT STRIKES PIER AND SINKS

Howling Rain Storm Puts out Signals And Prevents Cries Being Heard

Parkersburg, W. V., Jan. 6. (By United Press)—Eight persons are believed to have been drowned when the Ohio river steamboat Kanawha was blown against a pier eight miles south of here last night and sank in 32 feet of water. The accident occurred during a howling rain storm which had put out the signal and prevented cries of those on board from reaching shore.

Among the missing are Mrs. Rebecca Deagle, her daughter, Mrs. Mamie Simpson and Mrs. Simpson's infant child. Herbert Wolf, pursuer of the boat is thought to have been drowned in an effort to save another. Captain Berry floated down stream with the Kanawha and was rescued at midnight. He believes all the passengers were saved. The Kanawha carries when she left here before the disaster. The boat's register was lost and there is no means of checking up survivors and missing.

SOUTHERN STATES PLANNING DRASTIC PROHIBITION BILL

All "Dry" States to Follow Lead of Alabama in Law Prohibiting Advertising

Newspapers and Periodicals Containing Beer or Whiskey Ads Will Not Be Allowed in States.

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 6. — The prohibitionists of the south are planning not only for a "dry" south program which shall include the entire section east of Mississippi, but also laws in each of the southern states which shall make it impossible for any newspaper or other publication to print liquor or beer advertisements or for any publication outside these states to be sold there if they contain liquor advertisements. Alabama has had such a law for a year or more. Georgia has a similar law which will come into effect next May, and South Carolina will be next in order.

While the forces behind this movement do not represent any particular organization, there is nevertheless a well defined set of individuals behind the bills in southern states. This is indicated by the fact that both the Alabama and the Georgia laws were drawn by same jurist, former Justice Samuel D. Weekly, of this state, and that the South Carolina bill will be drawn by the same author.

The two laws already enacted are as drastic as they can be made without presuming to interfere with the United States mails, and the South Carolina law will be much the same as the Alabama and Georgia laws.

In order to be added on the streets or at newsstands it is necessary for all publications advertising liquor to publish special Georgia or Alabama editions containing no advertisements or intoxicants, or cut out or paste over such advertisements. Almost invariably, except with newspapers in neighboring states which get out special editions to meet these conditions, the most practical way has been to paste blanks over liquor advertisements, and in Alabama, where the law has been for some time effective, newsdealers have had to employ special staffs to cover the liquor advertisements in all their publications before they could offer them for sale.

TO REPLACE GERMANS

New York, Jan. 6.—Four fathers of the Society of Jesus will leave this city tomorrow for India to take the place of German members of the order who have been expelled from their missions near Bombay by the British government.

With information that 130 German priests had been interned, the American branch of the order called for volunteers to take the vacant pastorates. Those chosen to go were the Rev. Denis Lynch of this city, the Rev. Thomas Barrett and the Rev. Edward Farrell of St. Peter's college, Jersey City and Rev. Herbert Parker of Holy Cross college, Worcester.

Sixteen American fathers were to have been chosen in response to the call sent by Archbishop Jurgens of Bombay, but many of the vacant places were soon filled by refugee Belgian priests and more than four Americans were not needed.

CENTRE CO. JAIL FOUND EMPTY

When George H. Yarnell as sheriff of Centre county went to the county jail to take possession, he was greatly surprised to find all the cell doors standing wide open. The last prisoner had been released from the jail the morning that the new sheriff came into his office. This is the first time in the history of Centre county that the jail has been without prisoners.

WRECKERS ARE AT WORK ON PANAMA-PACIFIC WONDERS

Ruthless Hands of Junk Dealers May Waste Millions of Dollars of Property

Exhibits Being Removed Before the Ficks and Crowbars Bring Ceilings Down Upon Them.

San Francisco, Jan. 6.—(By United Press).—The wreckers' ruthless hands are upon the exposition. Soon its beauties will be a heap of plaster, timbers—and memories.

Today a grunting engine wheezed its way through the grounds where once joyful throngs congregated. It backed its string of freight cars into palaces and dragged out the last of the exhibits and furnishings. It poured its smoke over the Tower of Jewels and upon beautiful, snowy statues. Throughout the ground the deafening sound of hammers and picks, of ripping lumber and rattling plaster were heard. Sharp bargainers directed the destruction of their prizes, the state buildings and other edifices, costing thousands to build, but sold for a trifle.

A lone harker tried to sell post-exposition visitors souvenir coins. A wheel chair bearing a couple of old ladies creaked through what is left of the once gay city.

High over the wondrously beautiful Court of the Universe and Court of Abundance, circled lazy sea gulls from off the bay. Around the buildings a flock of frightened doves rose as now and then the tread of a visitor startled their calm. Empty fountains rusted. The places some of them, still stood. But they showed signs of decrepitude; the plaster walls were chipped; the brilliant banners drooped and faded in the winter rains.

Shadows were littered with rubbish. Amid the ruins in the gardens blossomed a few geraniums. The other flowers were dead. All about was an air of desolation. A few grimy workmen replaced the thousands of sightseers who for months filled the grounds.

The romance of moonlight nights along the bay, fragrant with soft breezes, touched with orange blossoms, was replaced by the grim reality of decay, ruin, loneliness. A chill wind blew from the hills; clouds filled the sky with gloom.

On the Joy Zone—that noisy, rollicking Zone—desolation lay deep. Stella—wondrously beautiful Stella—was gone. Just a ragged sign marked her erstwhile abiding place. The giant dummy figures outside of Toyland, reared their heads like lonesome monsters wondering where their crowds had vanished to. The house of the Girl in Blue was heaved up. The Pool of the Diving Girls is in ruins. Strange silence rests upon the once clattering coasters. It is indeed a forsaken city.

JERSEY POLITICS CAUSING TROUBLE IN BOTH PARTIES

Republican Legislature, Democratic Governor and State Officials Expected Deadlock

Presidential Election Year in President's Home State Finds Conditions Against His Party

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 6.—(By United Press).—The 140th legislature of New Jersey will convene January 11 for a session which promises to be fraught with bitter party and factional strife. The reason for this forecast is that New Jersey, with its Republican legislature, Democratic governor and Democratic other state officials, next fall will vote for president, U. S. senator and governor. And this is Wilson's home state. It may develop into the biggest fight in the history of this compact little commonwealth. The Democrats in the state senate and house of assembly will strive to enhance the fortunes of their party to the end that President Wilson may roll up a big majority in his home state; while the G. O. P. representatives will maneuver to have the advantage in the coming contest before the people. In the state senate the Republican majority will be five, there being thirteen of them to eight Democrats. The house will have forty Republicans to twenty Democrats and the majority on joint ballot will be twenty-five, thus insuring the election of a Republican state treasurer to succeed the Democratic incumbent, State Chairman Grosscup.

RESIDENTS FLEE WHEN FIRE STARTS NEAR OIL TANKS

Valiant Work by Firemen Prevents Spreading of Flames to Tanks

Pittsburg, Jan. 6 (By United Press).—Residents of Carnegie, a suburb, fled in terror today when a fire broke out in the two story Moose temple within a few feet of the two huge oil tanks of the Atlantic Refining company. The tanks contained great quantities of oil and would have wrecked the neighborhood had the flames reached them. Firemen worked valiantly to confine the blaze to the Moose hall and succeeded despite the freezing temperature. The loss was estimated at $31,000.

U. S. HAS ALL INFORMATION ABOUT PERSIA OBTAINABLE

Affidavits Taken by Consul Garrels From Survivors Throws no More Light on Incident

Washington, Jan. 6. (By United Press).—A dispatch to the state department today from Consul Garrels of Alexandria indicates that the government now has all the information it is likely to have regarding the sinking of the Persia unless it comes from Vienna or Berlin. Garrels' message said affidavits taken from the survivors throw no more light on the incident. Garrels' cable said: "No submarine nor any other boat was seen" by survivors from whose affidavits.

OLD MAN "DOPE" A BAD GUESSESS GETS SCRAMBLED IN '15

The Sheet Looks Like a Large Feather Pillow With Big Holes Everywhere

(By U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
New York, Jan. 6.—Old Man Time today turned down the most scrambled sport page in many a year. Collocations of The Dope with cold, hard facts left the unartistic sheet in crazy disorder. It was a record of the dethronement of champions whose sway had seemed almost unchallenged.

Beginning the 1916 ledger, the bearded old guy with the primitive harvester and egg-beating meter faced the prospect of another cataclysmic cycle. More champions were on the threshold of the Little Green Door.

Jess Willard's dethronement of Jack Johnson loomed in largest type on the record for 1915. The Galveston roustabout flopped in as rounds, a beaten, helpless black man, defeated by wine, women and Willard. Willard, an unpopular champion, has yet to defend his title, but his supremacy is not regarded as greatly threatened; more because the heavyweight crop lacks quality than because he possesses merit.

Next on the page was the football record, a chronicle of upsets. Yale for the first time in years failed to make a single position on Walter Camp's all American team and that fact itself was an indication of the Blue's collapse. Little colleges, on the other hand, made fame and capital for themselves by trouncing the big boys. Harvard was saved by defeating Yale, but the accomplishment was not one to boast of. Colgate beat the army and Virginia defeated Washington and Jefferson defeated Yale. Harvard bowed to Cornell 10 to 0 and the Ithacans finished the season undefeated and clamoring for recognition of champions.

Just to add another kink to the situation, Yale knotted the Princeton kitty's tail. The Army and Navy developed a habit early in the season of bowing to their minor opponents and the main interest in their annual classic attached not so much to any championship flavor as to the ancient enmity between the two service branches. The Army and Oliphant, former Purdue star, won 14 to 0. Pittsburgh, undefeated for the season, entered a counter claim against Cornell's and there was little to choose.

The conference satiation was as just as hard to dope on paper as the East's egg riot but not so erratic. Illinois sagged badly in the early season and was tied by Ohio state, always regarded as a rather passive opponent for the best conference class. At the finish a toss up existed between Minnesota and Illinois, with Chicago third. Wisconsin, Purdue, Iowa, Indiana and Northwestern didn't have much chance at any time although the Badgers hate to admit that Chicago ever had anything on them.

Baseball stepped in for a share of attention of the strength of some volume stuff in the majors. The little fellows attracted attention only by going to the wall under stress of the baseball war. But Connie Mack's athletics were a hopeless wreck and the Giants of John McGraw flopped about in the rock with never a chance to hear the coveted embroidery flapping in the breeze of Coogan's acceptance. Pat Moran saved a Stalling's place, goading his Phils to victory by going to the wall under stress of the American league race and trouncing advanced prices are charged. For these features admission is now 15c for adults and 5c for children. Every effort is being made to secure a reduction in rental on these features which will permit of their being shown at the regular 10c and 5c prices.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Copenhagen, Jan. 6. (By United Press).—Sweden does not intend to allow Germany to lose the European war. Even if she is forced to make war herself as Germany's ally Sweden will not insist upon an out and out German victory but she feels she cannot for her own safety allow the Russians to beat Germany. She is not particularly pro-German or pro-ally but she is anti-Russian, with all her soul. She will fight with Germany before she will see Russia win.

As far back as any Swede can remember all Swedes have been in favor of a Russian attempt to secure for the Czar a long coveted warm water port on the west coast of the Scandinavian peninsula. This aim only be at Norway's expense and Norway can only be reached through Sweden. The Swedes claim they can put 1,000,000 troops into the field.

London, Jan. 6. (By United Press).—Labor leaders struck a heavy blow against conscription today. A resolution protesting "in the name of three million trade unionists" against compulsory enlistment was introduced by the committee when the national labor congress met in Central hall, Westminster. The resolution was greeted with cries of approval from all parts of the hall. It contained expression of regret that "the solidity of the nation has been gravely imperilled and industrial and other interests menaced by the attitude of the conscriptionists."

London, Jan. 6. (By United Press).—Invasion of Greece by armed central empires is about to be according to dispatches from widely scattered sources to United Press dispatch from Salonika reported that the Bulgarians had resumed their concentration along the Greek border in the last 48 hours and it is believed the campaign to drive the allies from Greece will open within a few days.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Legislation of congress to prohibit American traveling on any belligerent vessel threatened to be one of the first results of the British liner Persia lost. Widespread growth of a congressional sentiment for a munitions embargo was another development.

Administration leaders admitted the senate's adoption of open and frank discussion in the Persia incident is causing uneasiness but that it served a purpose however in indicating the American feeling on submarine slaughter was cited as a helpful feature.

Both senate and home foreign relations committee will meet tomorrow for consideration of the submarine and other issues.

Authorities pretty generally agree that the Nationals, not the Americans or Poles, were licked. Signs however, point to some sort of an agreement next year to restore peace to the game. Magnates at the Waldorf meeting weren't sure the public would stand for another season of courtroom baseball.

Tennis and golf brought forth their sensations too; and Howard Drew, the negro sprinter, left his Pullman car job in San Fran long enough to lose his title in the meet at the exposition.

Further Time will have to go on in 1916 to readjust matters athletically.

A FAIR, BY ALL MEANS

There seems to have been but one cause for Clearfield's announcement of the County Fair, that being the quest for finances. Stockholders who were compelled to make up a deficit when approached for backing for another fair, following immediately upon a loss. So the idea languished and DuBois willingly took upon her shoulders the responsibility cast off by Clearfield.

Few people who look beyond the surface claim that fairs in general are a source of direct profit. They seldom are. Their establishment costs a pile of money, and the receipts of a few days must be made to cover expenditures of months, and the corporation which backs such a venture is usually pleased if it "breaks even."

However, there also are few who doubt the indirect profit and ultimate benefit of fairs, sticking directly to the question of dollars and cents, and as it will relate to the local men who will be responsible if Clearfield decides to have a fair this year. We live in the center of an immensely rich farming district, which contributes no small part to the steady prosperity of Clearfield as important as part, probably, as our many and varied industries, which are unaffected by capricious good times and bad. Yet we have done, and continue to do, little to attract the farmer, to make Clearfield his natural buying center, to keep before him the traditional fairness of our dealers, and to cultivate his good will. This good will is an asset which is realized on every day in the year, and he knows it as well as we and while individual effort is constantly being expended on him, individual as compared to collective effort is not possible of nearly equal results.

County Fair benefits are not widely distributed, in the sense. They are confined for the most part to the merchants and others who deal directly or indirectly with the rural citizen, because it is he who comes to the fair with something in his head other than a determination to ride on the merry-go-round and have a general good time. His visit usually has to do with exhibiting prize stock, of which he is justly proud, or the produce of his farm. A blazing midway offers less attraction to him than to the dandy from Cross Corners, because he is on a serious business. Therefore, he will pass judgement on the provision made for him by the people who run the fair, whom he naturally expects are the merchants of the town. If his judgment is favorable, he likes Clearfield, and he becomes one of the permanent assets of the town. If he doesn't the reverse applies, and the money spent in bringing him here is wasted.

The man who sells the peanuts and red lemonade, although he may make a rapid profit from his concession, is not one of the real beneficiaries of a successful fair. He is but an incident. The men who profit most are those who will continue to profit by the good will of the farmer.

So The Progress believes that when the proposition is put up to the merchants of Clearfield, the real value of the fair will be apparent to them, and that they readily will assume in just proportion whatever liability may be incurred in holding it. Theirs is the final benefit, and the large benefit, and it is to them that the idea of holding the fair should have the stronger appeal.

Why British Soldiers Like France

Today's Geographic Study of The Great European War Zone

"Warfare is a commonplace in the crag-framed valley of the Struma River, down whose course the Bulgarians are struggling against the French and English; for the river flows through the heart of the district, in which the Bulgarians, Serbians, and Greek propagandists fought for ten bitter years among themselves before uniting in the purpose of driving the Turk from here in 1912," begins a statement just issued by the National Geographic Society.

"The Struma valley has been more or less of a continuous battlefield since the beginning of the twentieth century, when the idea gained certainty that the Turk must soon lose his Macedonian provinces and all of the Balkan nations began a wrestling for inheritance. Schools, churches, politicians and brigand bands strove with one another in Macedonia for the conversion of the natives to their cause; for the development of Bulgarians, Greeks and Serbs in the Turkish state; and the tactics of the struggle often proved fatal to the subjects for conversion.

"It is peculiarly wild and desolate segment of the Balkan peninsula that borders the Struma's course. Its wildness is that of nature piled with mountains, scarred with broken for war. I had pupils and I tried to teach them a bit of writing, arithmetic and Serbian history."

"What did you teach 'ee girls?"

"There weren't any girls. Serbian country folks think girls will go wrong if they are taught too much so they keep them home. Our school hours were different from those in San Francisco. We began school at nine in the morning and closed at noon. We opened it again at three and closed at five. We had sessions six days a week, but the children were free on Saturday afternoons. Isn't this war terrible? I remember how the children used to come across the fields and down the roads with their school books and exercise papers. In all Serbia today there isn't any children with school books and the schools are sleeping places for soldiers."

"There must be many orphans in Serbia."

"God only know how many. Serbia has been fighting for the last four years, off and on. She started with 400,000 men. It's safe to say that 150,000 of them have been killed in battle. If every man represents a family of five persons that means 600,000 orphans and 150,000 widows. The population of old Serbia is only 2,500,000. That is only about half the population of New York, but you kill 300,000 young men in New York in the four years and you have the hole at the bottom of your home and business life."

"Wasn't it a terrible thing?"

"Yes it was. Gabrielle Prince's father is a rich commissionaire in Herzegovina and Gabrielle bright young student. He didn't know that the shot he fired that day would start a world war. He was too young to be executed and he's in an Austrian jail somewhere. I'll bet, though, he doesn't know what trouble his shot caused. The Austrians would keep it away from him. My nephew went to school with Gabrielle and knew him well. He was a fine, intelligent young fellow and he knew, as all the intelligent Serbs knew, that the Crown Prince of Austria intended to invade Serbia as soon as he came into power. Gabrielle had a good time at Semlin, across the river from Belgrade, for a month before the assassination at Sarajevo. He gave parties and it came out at the trial that he divided four thousand dollars with pals who were to help him. He knew what he was expected to do. The Crown Prince of Austria didn't have a single chance for his life that Sunday in Sarajevo. He was a dead man as soon as he entered the town. If one of the conspirators missed him just happened that the royal automobile came Gabrielle's way.

"But Serbia is invaded anyhow. Isn't it?" I asked.

"Yes," said, "but not by a Crown Prince of Austria. Besides, we have England, France and Russia on our side." Midzor used to be secretary of one of those Slavic lodges which, from time to time, march through the streets of almost every American city carrying lettered banners no one can read and celebrating holidays few Americans understand. Every year he used to go to Chicago to the convention of the Slavic lodges. He was always part of the convention parade of Slavs, Czechs and other queer Balkan people who and me of their time in the mines of the United States and who mystify Americans whenever they come to the surface and dress up in their Sunday clothes.

The interesting thing about Midzor is that, little as Americans know of Slavs, Midzor and many of his brethren know a great deal about Americans.

Every Fourth of July Midzor used to print his paper, a page in red. And his Fourth of July edition always carried a translation of the American Declaration of Independence, in full.

In Serbian, Sloboda means liberty.

STOMACH TROUBLES QUICKLY CURED.

People go on suffering from little stomach troubles for years, and imagine they have a serious disease. They over-eat or over-drink and force on the stomach a lot of extra work, but they never think that the stomach needs extra help to do the extra work.

These people would take Tonoline Tablets. If they do they would find their help on the stomach in its strain of over-work. No matter what you eat or drink Tonoline Tablets sweeten your stomach and stop gas belching in five minutes. The heaviness disappears, and the stomach is greatly aided in its work of digestion.

Tonoline Tablets not only promptly relieve all distress, but if taken regularly will absolutely cure indigestion by building up the fatty, overworked walls of the stomach and making them strong enough to digest the most hearty meal.

Go to your druggist and get a 15-cent box of Tonoline Tablets and you will find them the best remedy for all stomach troubles.

Don't look Old and Gray when with a few days treatment with Mildred-ina Hair Remedy, you can restore the color of your hair and make yourself look years younger. Sensible men and women no longer cover up
Gray Hair with dyes since it is possible to restore the original Natural Color with this new scientific discovery.—The old time color gradually returns—not a color near to what it was, but the actual original color and it is easily kept so with an occasional application of Mildredina.

Go to the Druggist today and get a 50c bottle and see the immediate improvement.

It's Here---Leonardson's January Clearance Sale

Our Annual Clear-Away of Winter Stocks--Every Department in the Store Affected ALL PRICES SHARPLY REDUCED

"Clear Decks for Action," is a command that inspires every naval man to quick response. A similar command is ringing in our ears now, and we are spurred to immediate activity. Every "Deck" in our store must be cleared forthwith of its stocks of Winter Merchandise. Our well-known policy forbids the carrying over of merchandise from one season to another. Prices have heretofore been reduced to exceedingly low levels—the drop has been deep and decisive, for no question of price must interfere with our aim in effecting a most thorough clearance. The result of this broad-gauge clearance idea is the most noteworthy array of genuine values we were ever fortunate enough to offer. Our stocks are replete with fine seasonable merchandise most of which would sell without any trouble at regular prices. But the Clearance dictum has gone forth, and therefore shrewd purchasers profit.

This Clearance Event Begins Saturday, Jan. 8th, at 9 A. M. You'll Surely be Here If You Read the Following Items Which Are Just a Few of Those to be Had.
